DETAILED ACTION

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
 The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the

2. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The following terms are vague and indefinite: "adjusting ... to reduce trim drag" in claim 1; "reduce trim drag while attaining an attenuated aircraft sonic boom" in claim 2; "to reduce trim requirements and increase aircraft controllability" in claim 3; "reduce the aircraft sonic boom" in claim 8; "reduce trim drag and increase aircraft range" in claim 9; and "reduce trim criteria and increase aircraft controllability" in claim 10. Each of these phrases contain relative terms and are presented without a basis for comparison.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless - subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

- (a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.
- 4. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Bergeson.

See especially column 1, lines 39-47.

- 5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 15-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Underwood in view of Bell.

Underwood discloses an aircraft control system comprising substantially all claimed elements, including a fuel transfer control that transfers fuel between fuel tanks using sensors and pumps, and which is coupled to control effectors and their actuators. This system thus controls the center of gravity and trim of the aircraft. See especially column 1, lines 50-56 and column 2, lines 15-19. Note that the pilot may deactivate the transfer system, which implies that the aircraft can operate in at least two flight modes. Underwood fails to show that the controller comprises a computer. Bell teaches that it is known to use computer controllers in a fuel transfer/center of gravity control system. Motivation to combine is the mere substitution of known controllers to perform the same basic function, but with the increased performance and versatility available to a computer controlled system when compared to an electromechanical system. To employ the teachings of Bell on the system of Underwood and have a computer controller is considered to have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art.

- 7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Or loff et al, Vardaman et al, and Adelson et al are cited as being of interest since they disclose fuel control systems.
